may be depended upon to afford a splendic literary treat. Few Novelists of modern times can compare with Walter Besant in the ability to write a really good, well conceived, boldly constructed, and admirably worked-out story. His literary gifts are unique, and as the result of his vigorous fancy, brilliant style, and careful nttention to detail in all that concerns his stories we have a series of volumes which have built up for him a strong and enduring popularity

We commend the following little story to the | Singapore Insurance Company, Limited -- 518. cultured ones who are about to travel in the States, taken from Temple Bar :- "Then some- Chinese Imperial Loan of 1884 B-7 per cont. body told a story of a Boston girl who had gone on a visit to Chicago, and had said in a patronicing manner to a Chicago girl, 'I did not expect to find you so cultivated here. 'Why, we are just dizzy on culture, you bet,' replied the Chicago girl, who didn't intend to be sat upon.'

Russian letters, dated 22nd July, from Contral Asia, state that railway construction is progressing very rapidly. When General Annenkoff started for Central Asia, his orders were to complete the railway by March next, but he has now received more urgent orders to have the railway opened as far as Samarkand as soon as possible. Thirty days before he received these instructions, the railway was completed to thirty miles from Charjul, and all the earth-work from the Oxus to the capital of Bokhara was finished. To hasten the work, General Annonkoff received a reinforcement of two infantry battallous as working parties. His aide-de-camp, Lieutenant Miloutin, nephew of the ex-War Minister, had started for Ferganah to engage workmen, because the Turkomans and Bokharans will not work from laziness. The whole railroad from Micholsk to Charjui was constructed by Persiaus from the north and by Caucasians. General Annenkoff was still at Karakul, between the Oxus and Bokhara.

The Freie Rhatier of Chur, speaking of the rapid development of the "Fremden-industrie" in Granbünden, gives a curious instance of the cheapness of a tour in the high valleys of the canton a generation ago. It is only within the last few years that foreigners have found their way up to the Aresathal. It lies aside, out of the route of the diligeness which crawl up by way of Thusis or Lenz over the Julier or the Albula. A traveller to Aroso, in the days when its inhabitants never dreamed that it would become a popular "Kavort," stayed for a night at Wind: 30.10 42 61 m 3 an inn in one of the villages on the road. He was charged one penny (10 centimes) for his bed. Two days later, on his way down, he stayed again at the modest inp, accompanied by a friend. They slept in the same room. . They were charged 15 centimes. The landlord, with an apologetio manner, gave the following explanation of the ertra halfpenny in the bill :-- 'The day before yesterday, you see, you came alone; but as there are now two of you, I am afraid I must ask for 15 centimes." A bed in the same inn new costs the not very monstrous sum of 1 franc,

"An interesting discovery has," says the Madras Mail, "lately been made in the Madura distriet. As Mr. James, the Port Officer of Paumban, was lately on a tour of inspection of the Kilakarai Channel, he had occasion to visit some beacons some four or five miles north east of the port of Kilskarai. Walking along the beach, he noticed the whole strand strewed with broken pottery, earthenware, china, &c., and at one place where the sea had encroached, at a depth of four or five feet from the surface of the ground, there appeared what seemed to be the end of a wall. On enquiry he was told that the pottery was from an old town which existed in the time of the Pandyan Kings. The natives stated that coins were often found washed out by the sea, and quantity were given to Mr. James, which had various devices on them, such as fish, birds, bullocks, and the monkey god Hanuman. These have been forwarded to the Collector of Madura, with a full report of all the information that could be gathered. Mr. James has subsequently had another large number of coins sent to him. some of which are Grecian, Roman, Arab, &c. According to Bishop Caldwell, Kilakarai is the place where Marco Polo first landed in India."

Daily Press Office, Hongkong. For comprehensiveness and practical service | places: this Work stands unrivalled. All the new words which the Chinese have of late years; been compelled to coin to express the numerous ob-To other European points at proportionate allowance does not apply to through fares from joots in machinery, photography, telegraphy, and in science generally, which the rapid advance of foreign relationshas imposed upon them, are here given in extenso. Each and every word is fully illustrated and explained, forming exercises Passengers, who have paid full fare, re- day; all Parcel Packages should be marked to for students of a most instructive nature. Both the Court and Punti pronunciations are given the accents being carefully marked on the best principle hitherto attained. The typography displays the success of an attempt to make the Chinese and English type correspond in the size of body, thereby effecting a vast economy of space, achieving a clearness not previously attained, and dispensing with those vast margins and vacant spaces which have heretofore characterized Chinese publications.

To illustrate the vast scope of the work the following facts are submitted for consideration :-Chalmers' Vocabulary contains about 16,000 Chinese characters and Medhurst's English and Chinese Dictionary about 100,000, whilst this work contains more than 50,000 English words, and upwards of 600,000 Chinese characters. Again, despite all the grammars and paid less a small discount of about 2d. in the £1, other elementary works as yet published, the for which the remitter should allow. For practical purposes the arrangement of the work is so complete, that a reference to its pages enables a person who understands English to communicate effectively with natives who understand nothing but Chinese. In this respect the work will be found indispensable to all Europeans residing in China, and to the natives themselves it explains subjects fully with which very few indeed of them are perfectly acquainted. To parties resident in England and interested in China it cannot but be invaluable occasion-
